FabulousMP3 Activation Code is an MP3 import/export software, which allows you to save or play your favorite audio streams from the internet and, what is more, it is FREE! Import MP3 and WAV files When you open FabulousMP3 you will find two tools: "File" and "Play". By using the "File" tool, you can insert any kind of audio file, for example a WAV, MP3, OGG, or even an AVI file. From there on, you can choose any of the three options to get your files ready for playing. With the "Play" tool, you can play a file directly from the location which you previously set in the main window of the application. If your file is a WAV, you can choose the "Add silence to left side" option in order to set a fixed interval of silence at the beginning of the file. Using this option, you have the possibility to cut the file at any length you like. For instance, you could choose to cut a 7 seconds part at the beginning of the file. The "Show Beats" option allows you to see the rhythm of the file and also mark some interesting points in the file. This is useful especially when you are loading a live stream from the internet. If the tempo of the stream is unknown, you can choose to create a new time signature with the "Create New Time Signature" option. So, by connecting the start point and stop point of the file, you are able to choose a tempo and even add a slow or fast or a half swing. The "Other...(more)" option allows you to import the file directly to another tool. All files that you have prepared can be stored in the "Open" window. You can start from there again at any moment in order to perform additional edits. Import a stream from the internet When you have prepared the desired file, you can import it to the "Open" window. In there, the file is listed, depending on your last filter applied. If you are familiar with something like Spotify, you can choose a genre with the "Tags" button. In the "Playlist" area, you can choose the artist and the album. Furthermore, you have the possibility to sort the songs by title or by play count. Finally, you can choose to import stream from a selected URL. This option is not very user-friendly, since you are first asked to connect your internet-accessed computer to the internet and then

So, I just bought a brand new 2.5 Gb mp3 player in order to download music onto my phone. This was the first time I had bought an mp3 player and I have always used CD's before. So I got this mp3 player off from Amazon for £20.00 and it came with a good long set of headphones and the charger. So I plugged it in to my phone and turned it on and everything seemed fine. Then I took it out to see if it worked and couldn't figure out why it wasn't charging. So I plugged it back in and then when I charged it it played a bit of music and then just shut itself off. I was so frustrated as I had just bought this mp3 player to listen to my songs on the move and was disappointed to see it didn't work. I've taken the player out and the charger cord and everything seems fine. I don't have a clue as to what the problem is. There is a small 'power' light that is green when it is charging but when I took it out and played a couple of songs it was red and didn't charge. Does anyone know why this may have happened? The Manufacturer suggests I charge it for six hours and I have tried this but still no luck.
